

Course TITLE: Money, Banking and Financial Markets

Instructor: Chenlu Wu

Title/Position : Lecturer

Institution : Guangdong University of Foreign Studies

Course Overview:

The course provides an introduction of basic concepts in Finance, including currency, interest rate, banking industry and financial tools. It aims to offer students an easier way to understand economic phenomena in daily life, such as why interest rates fluctuate, what financial instruments bring you highest return, how central banks and commercial banks work.

Do you want to know what determines your monthly payment if you apply for a housing mortgage? Are you curious about how central banks issue money? If the answer is yes, come and join our course.

Grading:

Performance on Class: 30%

Assignments: 30%;

Group Presentation: 40%